DEATH IN THE VIAL.

THE FIFTH TABLET CARRIED A DOSE THAT WAS FATAL.

Why the Doctor Had a Premonition That Misfortune Had Overtaken a Wealthy Planter—How the Story of the Crime Unfolded.

The story was told by a police commissioner of another city who was in New Orleans recently on a visit.

"The most ingenious murder I ever knew anything about," he said, "was committed by a young physician. He was a rising practitioner at a place where I formerly lived, and, with your permission, I will speak of him simply as Dr. Smith.

"About a dozen years ago, as nearly as I remember, this young man went on a visit to a relative in a neighboring city, and one afternoon, on the third or fourth day of his stay, he startled a lady member of the household by remarking that he 'had a feeling' that some misfortune had overtaken a wealthy planter whom they both knew very well, and whom I will call Colonel Jones. The colonel was a prominent resident of the doctor's home town and had a large outlying estate, which he was in the habit of visiting once a week.

"On the day of Smith's singular premonition he was on one of those tours of inspection, but failed to come back, and the following morning his corpse was found lying in a cornfield. He had evidently been dead about 24 hours, and from the appearance of the body seemed to have been seized with some sort of fit or convulsion.

"Of course the affair created a great stir, and the police made a pretty thorough investigation, but the only thing they found that merited any special attention was a small, round vial in the dead man's vest pocket. It was about the diameter of a lead pencil by four inches long, and had originally contained a couple of dozen medicinal tablets, which, lying one on top of the other, filled the little bottle to the cork. A few still remained in the bottom.

"Upon inquiry it was learned without trouble that the tablets were a harmless preparation of soda, and that Jones himself had bought them at a local drug store. That ended suspicion in that quarter, and, for lack of anything better, the coroner returned a verdict of death from sunstroke. There was no autopsy.

"Some time after Jones had been buried," continued the police commissioner, "I learned accidentally of Dr. Smith's curious prophecy, and it set me to thinking. Eventually I evolved a theory, but it was impossible at the time to sustain it with proof, and for five or six years I kept it pigeonholed in my brain, waiting for something to happen. Meanwhile, to everybody's surprise, Dr. Smith went to the dogs. He began by drinking heavily, gradually lost his practice, and finally skipped out to avoid prosecution for cashing a fake draft. After his flight I learned enough to absolutely confirm my theory as to Jones' death. What had really happened was this:

"Dr. Smith owed the old man a considerable sum of money and had given a note, upon which he had forged his father's name as indorser. The planter was pressing him for payment and had threatened suit, which meant inevitable exposure. One day, while they were conversing, Jones pulled out a little glass vial and swallowed one of the tablets it contained, remarking that he took one daily, after dinner, for sour stomach.

"That suggested a diabolical scheme of assassination, which the doctor proceeded to put into execution. Repairing to his office, he made up a duplicate tablet of strychnine, and, encountering the colonel next day, asked him to let him have the vial for a moment, so he could copy the address of the makers from the label.

"Jones handed it over unsuspectingly, and while his attention was briefly diverted elsewhere Smith put in the prepared tablet. He placed it under the top four, thus making it reasonably certain that his victim would take it on the fifth day from that date. Next morning he left town, so as to be far away when the tragedy was consummated, and some mysterious, uncontrollable impulse evidently led him to make the prediction that first excited my suspicion.

"When I made certain of all this, I located Smith in Oklahoma and was on the point of applying for an extradition warrant when he anticipated me by contracting pneumonia and dying. I thereupon returned the case to its mental pigeonhole, where it has remained ever since.

"Pardon me for asking," said one of the listeners, "but is that really a true story, or are you entertaining us with interesting fiction?"

"It is absolutely true," replied the narrator.

"But how did you learn the particulars?"

"Well," said the police commissioner, smiling, "Smith was like most clever criminals—he had one weak spot. He was fool enough to tell a woman. She blabbed."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ate Course Dinners.
A woman just arrived from Australia was recently negotiating with an agent in London for a house in one of the newer districts of Kensington. She asked if it was a nice neighborhood. "It is thoroughly desirable, madam," replied the house agent. "They are without exception soup and fish families."

SLAVE TRADE IN CALIFORNIA.

The slave trade continues to be prosecuted in a very marked manner along the line of the Southern Pacific from New Orleans to San Francisco. The ignorant Porto Ricans are in the hands of Philistines who have no more regard for their rights than a hawk has for the life of a bird. The only question that appears to be uppermost in the minds of the slave drivers in charge of these people is to get them on ship board in the speediest way possible. Two of the number have escaped en route, and twenty-seven more made an attempt to get away, but were run down by a locomotive furnished for the purpose by the railroad company.

The last mentioned number made a brake for liberty at Pomona, in California, by running along the railroad track to some orange groves near the line of the road. Believing they were safe when they reached the groves, they stopped to discuss ways and means in a land the language of whose people they had no knowledge of, when a locomotive came over the track that had on board a person whose name is Alvez, who is in charge as slave driver in chief. The man Alvez, because of the ignorance of these men, forced them to return to the train from which they had escaped.

Such scenes would not be tolerated in Europe under a monarchical system for many reasons, among which is the enforcement of law to the letter, to secure the monarchical system against innovation and attack. The people of Europe derive protection from the system that enslaves them, which demands absolute obedience to law, which secures to them the rights they possess under the system from being set aside or disregarded by the lawless. The liberties they possess, among which is liberty of the person against violence in any particular, are secured in a manner that would prevent a slave driver from controlling the will of the humblest subject in any form. It is strange the law should be violated with impunity in a civilized and enlightened commonwealth such as California is supposed to be, under the plea that there is no law through which relief can be secured to those whose ignorance of the law is made a means for the protection of those who enslave them through its violation.

HARD TIMES NOT IN THE LIST OF QUOTATIONS.

The body of the people have not been more hopeful over the future of the State at any time in the last twenty-five years than they are at this time, which is a condition that indicates prosperity present and future. A few of the people may be making a success in business under any class of general circumstances, owing to favorable surroundings which they can use to advantage, while the larger number at the same time have trouble to make both ends meet, but it is different when a feeling of confidence is general as it is at present. There is a general movement back of any general feeling over business which seems to be present at this time in a very general way as hard times are not in the list of quotations. There is something remarkable in the entire absence of complaint about adverse business relations as the people have not become any more resigned to their lot in Nevada than they have been at other times.

SENATOR JONES WAS NOT PRESENT.

The JOURNAL gave the vote in the Senate on the Davis amendment to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty at Sixty-five in favor of the amendment and eighteen against it which is an error of one, seventeen is the number who voted for the amendment. Jones of Nevada was reported as being for it but as usual he was absent when the vote was taken, which made the vote one less than the number reported as voting on the question. The name of Senator Jones appearing among those who voted which gave the report prominence—not because the Senator is a man more prominent than he should be but his continued absence at roll call when a vote is taken made it appear strange when his name appeared on the list of those voting, which is explained through the correction of a mistake.

THE STORM.

The wind blew and the snow and rain descended to the future advantage of the farmer and those engaged in other industries in the State. The storm was severe in many places, communication being interrupted over wires used for telegraph and telephone service. The wind caused some damage on the coast, which is not unusual when it travels at a forty-five-mile rate, charged with moisture as it always is at this season when blowing from the southwest.

Dr. Mullinix, the Quaker doctor, and his wife will leave this morning for San Francisco, where they will spend the holidays. They expect to be gone two or three days.

Good Ore at New Jerusalem.

J. H. Brown came in from New Jerusalem yesterday morning for the first time in two months. He reports his newly discovered lead-silver mine to be looking handsome. Thirty tons of ore have been extracted, although the shaft is only eighteen feet deep. Mr. Brown figures that the stuff will average 73 per cent although it assayed only 10 ounces in silver on the surface, the white metal is coming in plentifully now. A chunk of ore weighing eight pounds was brought into town and placed on exhibition. It is full of wire silver. The ledge is now about two feet wide.

The Burnt Cork Artists Coming.

Of all the minstrel organizations en-tour this season none compare with the newly equipped Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels, a new company with an old time tried title.

The company numbers in its ensemble some thirty-nine members and from the handsome new first part to the finale of the performance there is not a dull second, and in every department will be found rapping fun, charming music, superb scenery and the continuing gorgeously designed.

The New Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels come to the McKisson opera house, December 22.

A Dollar a Pound.

George Wedekind has his pockets full of his latest strike. The rock is gray and very heavy. It can be cut like metal; in fact, it is pretty nearly metal, for it averages $2,000 a ton. There is nearly two feet of it showing in the bottom of the incline.

Mr. Wedekind believes it to be a permanent formation.

Best People on Earth.

There was a big blow-out by the Elks last night. Two new members were initiated. A choice banquet followed the lodge work.

All the leading people in Haverly's minstrels are Elks and they will be entertained Saturday evening by the local lodge.

Runaway Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Lemmon met with a serious accident Friday while driving near the Heinz ranch, at Alkali lake. Their horses ran away and both were thrown out. A big garb was cut in Lou's head and his wife was painfully bruised.

Two More Couples.

Yesterday there were two more foreign couples wedded in Reno. George Keller and Etta Campbell of Chicago were made one, and Charles Cottle and Mamie Lagne of Prattville, Cal., were treated ditto.

REPORT OF
THE CONGRESS

Secretary Maxson Outlines the Work of the Body.

This is the ninth annual session of the National Irrigation congress. For the first eight years of its life the National Irrigation congress met annually in the west. The attendance at its sessions was largely composed of representative men of the west, and every phase of the great problem of the reclamation and settlement of arid America was discussed and considered in its deliberations.

At the eighth annual session in Mis-souli, Montana, it was decided to hold the next session of the congress in Chicago. The reason for this was that the west had practically become united in favor of the adoption of a broad national policy for the preservation of the forests and the storage of the flood waters and the reclamation of the arid public domain.

After this determination had been made, and the location for the next congress had been fixed in Chicago, the subject was brought before the people of the east through their commercial organizations. The merchants of Los Angeles began the work by correspondence with several thousand of the eastern merchants and manufacturers who find a market for their goods in the city of Los Angeles, a city which is such a magnificent object lesson of the marvelous transformation that water will work in the west.

The merchants of St. Paul and Omaha next took up the work of organization through correspondence with their business connections throughout the east and a large number of the leading merchants and manufacturers of the great city of Chicago have extended to the movement their strong influence and support and have likewise taken up the matter by correspondence with other eastern merchants and manufacturers and as a result of this work the membership of the National Irrigation Association now comprises nearly a thousand of the leading mercantile firms and manufacturing concerns of the United States and has a membership extending from California to Maine and from Minnesota to Texas.

Agricultural, commercial, horticultural and labor organizations from one end of the country to the other have strongly endorsed the national irrigation movement by resolutions and cooperation. Among the leading organizations who have thus endorsed the movement and are actively aiding it are the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association; the St. Louis Manufacturers' Association, the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, the Omaha Commercial Club, the Missouri Valley Hardware Jobbers' Association, Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, Fresno Board of Trade, Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce, Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest, Yakima Commercial Club, Commercial Club of Stargis, S. D.; Commercial Exchange of Billings, Commercial Club of St. Joseph, Mo.; Board of Trade of Pasadena, Chicago Federation of Labor, the National Building Trades Council of America, Illinois State Federation of Labor, Denver Chamber of Commerce, and many other organizations.

The president of the congress in his address last evening so clearly and ably outlined the gradual evolution through which the movement for the reclamation and settlement of the arid region has passed that I need say no more on that subject. It has finally crystallized into a movement which is essentially national in its broadest sense and the organizations that are now enlisting in the national irrigation movement are not promoting it from any local or sectional point of view, but from a conviction that the planting of American civilization and the building of homes for one hundred million new citizens under the American flag in places which are now waste and desolate, is a national purpose which demands support from every citizen and statesman, every merchant and manufacturer, every farmer and factory operative and every other class of the people and section of the country, because the far-reaching and widespread benefits from the reclamation of this vast area of virgin territory would create a national prosperity in which all would share. To the press of the country, and all the whole country, is largely due the credit for the remarkable progress which the national irrigation movement has made because without regard to party or section the almost unanimous and united support of the press has been given to the movement.

The great political parties of the country in their platforms in the last campaign both endorsed it and hence the movement is in no sense partisan or political. It rises to the highest and the purest patriotism and the moto of the movement—"Save the Forests and Store the Floods"—is one in which every citizen, no matter what political party he may belong, may enlist and fight as a soldier in the cause of the conquest and subjugation of the deserts of arid America.

The citizens of Chicago, her great commercial organizations and her merchants and manufacturers, by their cordial, earnest and hearty support of this great movement, have made it possible that this irrigation congress which is being held in their midst, should be a success, and mark, as it does, the beginning of a new era of development in this country, which will see the great arid region to the west of Chicago wrested from the deserts and made populous with millions of homes of American citizens.

Seriously Hurt
While Driving.

Friday forenoon Miss Beate Higgins and Mrs. Jennings were taking a buggy ride on the Honey Lake road, and when in the vicinity of Rock Springs the horse became frightened and threw them out of the vehicle.

Mrs. Jennings was severely bruised but no bones were broken, but Miss Higgins was not so fortunate, she receiving a compound fracture of the right leg at the ankle. The horse and buggy was caught by a man on horse back three miles beyond where the accident occurred, and returned. The ladies were brought in and Miss Higgins was taken to the residence of her brother-in-law, Albert Kietzke, where she is resting comfortable as could be expected. Dr. Hogan was called and reduced the fracture.

Who Knows
About Him?

The following has been received by County Recorder Shearer. Any information will be appreciated:

An uncle of mine, Pete Bashore, came to California and Nevada, from Illinois, in 1861, and has never been heard of since. His friends are anxious to get some trace of him. We found he was in Nevada in about '73'.
Will you kindly notify if his name has ever appeared on your records?
If not please hand this over to some old settler of your town.

Mr. Bashore was short, heavy set, with blue eyes and would now be about 72 years old. Any information will be most gratefully received.
MRS. ANN CASSELL.

Revival Services.

The Evangelists at the Methodist church are doing excellent work.
Nightly the unsaved have been at the altar. The church has been greatly quickenened spiritually and the work continues.

Sunday morning and evening Rev.
Smith will preach and Mr. Robinson will sing. A male quartette will sing at both services. The large chorus choir has rendered efficient service.
Come with us and we will do thee good.

Steamboat Springs
Doing Duty.

A number of Nevada and California newspapers have published alleged facts to the effect that the Steamboat Springs have gone dry and that the resort is numbered with the things of the past. The management of this establishment feel that they are being injured by these rumors. Fact is, one of the springs did cease flowing during the earthquake last week but the flow of all the others has been augmented, evidencing that the water which formerly came from the closed vent is escaping through the other orifices.

 Reno, Nev. Telephone, Black 238.

IT IS NEEDLESS TO SAY,

That everybody uses groceries. However, many of them do not know that most of their food is adulterated by scheming manufacturers. Such concern do not get our trade. Our prices are as low as GOOD GROCERIES are sold for THINGS FOR CHRISTMAS.

 Are so plentiful in our lin-that merely mentioning them would look like cataloguing, but here's a very incomplete list of what may make glad the heart of man or maid wife or boy—Table cutlery, skates, fancy scissors, pocket knives, miniature tool chests for the half-grown; full sized for the full-grown.

One With Wisdom and Experience Knows where to procure his Christmas supplies of groceries; staples like sugar, tea and coffee, of course; luxuries as well for that one day. To the uninitiated we may say that you can't do better than here anywhere; our modest opinion is that you can't do as well. Get your orders in early.

What A Tale It Tells.
 If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaundied look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr.
 King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cts. at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

They Struck It Rich.
 It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as S. J. Hodgkinson secured the agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50 cts. and $1.00

Many Things Are Meant
 By many dealers who claim o handle groceries. When they advertise GOOD GROCERIES no mention is made of PRICE. When price is mentioned QUALITY IS OVER-LOOKED. Again, sometimes they dwell on the virtues of a LARGE STOCK. In this case no claim is made to carrying FRESH GOODS.
